

Mr. John Ralston

John Ralston has been in practice for more than 25 years and has spent the best part of the last 20 years grappling with the Registered Clubs Act and the law relating to registered clubs. As a consequence, he is one of Sydney's most experienced practitioners in relation to registered clubs. His firm, Pigott Stinson, has been involved with the club industry from the earliest days.